

Lead at the front of the room with CONFIDENCE!

Fearless Speaker Program

- Experience what it's like to confidently own the room using your unique strengths.
- Demonstrate competence in communicating effectively
- Understand what it takes to connect with your audience/client
- Organize and craft a presentation using the 7Cs framework

This program is designed for growth and development. It is engaging and experiential because learning to lead at the front of the room requires awareness, understanding, and experimentation. You will learn powerful techniques, apply relevant methods, and achieve real development. Great focus is put on confidence boosting strategies. Each individual will be asked to participate in the delivery of a presentation at each session. Every session will include a learning segment as well as group coaching and feedback. The learnings from this four-session program will be immediately applicable to each person's work.

Sara Krisher is a Master trained coach and an experienced trainer, facilitator and speaker. She develops talks and programs that not only inspire, but empower. She knows that confidence is only accessed by stepping into fear.
